will be named to the Morehead State College as a permanent writer in residence. Dr. Streiff, who will teach immunology and physiology, is a member of the Division of Languages and Literatures.

No stranger to the campus, Dr. Streiff has served as a visiting member of the Morehead State College since 1968. He has been at the post ten summers, helping to organize the annual summer sessions.

Dr. Streiff has served as librarian at the Hindman Settlement School since 1968. He has also been a while serving in the Air Force. He lived in a 150-year-old house in the town of Hindman on Dead Bear Branch where he did most of his writing — much of which has never been submitted.

James Still, nationally acclaimed poet, novelist, and short story writer, has been named to the Morehead State College English faculty as a permanent writer in residence. During the past year, Still, who is also writing short story, Southern literature and literature, will serve as an associate professor in the Division of Languages and Arts on campus. Still spent the Spring semester of 1961 as a writer in residence at Morehead. He has also served as a writer in residence at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, during the past ten summers, helping to make the annual two-week workshop one of the finest in the United States.

Still, who has been writing since 1940, has published more than 100 poems in the Handman Settlement School since 1952 with a four-year abeyance. He has also published in Force. He lived in a 150-year-old two-room log house on a 100-acre farm in the branch where he did most of his writing — much of which has never been submitted for publication even though there is always a waiting market for his work.

"I have no particular urge to publish," he said. "My urge is to write. I don't know how important it is to be constantly publishing, but no one can stop me from writing."

Named For 'Miss Anna'

'Carter Hall' Honors Woman Who Served MSC Presidents

By Roger Dixon

Few secretaries — if any — across the United States can say they have worked for every president of one college or university since its establishment, and as a result have had a building named for them. But Miss Anna Carter of Morehead State College can claim that.

She started working at Morehead State College, she called it Morehead State Normal School, in 1923 as secretary to President Frank C. Huton and since then has acted as secretary to all presidents until June 1, 1960, when she retired under the administration of Dr. Adron Doran, the college's seventh president.

At that time, Miss Carter thought her career as secretary was over. However, after a month's inactivity Dr. Doran asked her to serve as secretary to the Board of Regents and the Alumni Office.

Recently the Morehead State College Board of Regents voted unanimously to name one of the new college buildings in honor of Miss Carter for the outstanding contributions she has made to the college since 1923. The building, costing $227,495, 16-unit married housing addition to the "L-shaped Terrace," is named Carter Hall.

"It was so surprised, I almost fell over," she said. "I think wonderful and a great honor."

on the entire campus. Now there are so numerous I can't begin to count them and one has even been named for me. It's unbelievable.

Miss Carter graduated from an old Morehead Normal School in 1912, and then taught school at Christy School, Hutton Branch and Roldrun in Rowan County for three years. In 1915, she graduated from Portsmouth College of Business, now an extension school of Ohio State University, and came to Morehead to work at the Clearfield Lumber Company. She remained there until 1920 when she began work at the college.

Many memories are connected with her 40 years at Morehead State College. Miss Carter said that there were so many that she could not begin to tell them.

"However," she said, "I say that Dr. Doran is certainly the most interesting president I ever worked for. He is a wonderful administrator, always on the job and he knows his own mind. And these qualifications and his to me. I feel he is one of the best

Numerous adult education projects on the local level in the region served by Morehead State College are expected to follow the success of the first workshop. The second annual Adult Education Workshop, Dr. Nelson said, will be held from June 17-18 on the campus of Morehead State College. Dr. Grote said participants in the comprehensive two week workshop held from June 17-28 would be presented with a variety of shop held in their local communities. The training program at Morehead State College is one of 12 held in the nation this summer and the only adult education program in the state.

William C. Shaver, an associate in adult education curriculum in the adult education division of the U. S. Department of Education, Newark, N. J., and a national figure in his field, lectured at the workshop. He said that the majority of our citizens are adults and that these activities which promote growth and development should not be neglected. "Our national educational system has geared their programs to prepare terminal education for youth and the government has concentrated its education for adults has been slighted," Shaver said.

Such workshops as these
"Such workshops as these are very much needed in order to train adult education teachers," Shaver said. "We must go to the local level and teach our citizens to take advantage of wherever we can reach them."

He gestured churches, clubs, industries, and any other comparable places which can be utilized for such training.

James E. Fahm, General Education Director, State Department of Education, Fairfax, Va., said that the workshop assistant, has served as consultants to the Morehead State College.

"Kentucky has a tremendous need for adult education," Shaver said. "We must encourage adult education by making available immediate employment related situations."

Shaver added that adult education is needed at the national, state and local level.

"It should be the purpose of the workshop to help explain the need for continuing education, especially to less educated citizens," he said. "If accomplished before the program will be accepted," he said.

NEW MOREHEAD BUILDING—The new $432,177 administration building on the Morehead State College campus was occupied for the first time last week. The structure is a dual-level building with entrances on both College Boulevard and College Street. The building was constructed by the Dawson-Evans Construction Company, Cincinnati, and designed by McLoney, Tune and Clark, Architects, Lexington.

Opened Last Week

A much needed structure on the Morehead State College campus was completed last week as administrative personnel have moved into the newly-completed administration building.

The structure, which is situated on a park-like site between College Boulevard and College Street, has made possible the centralization of the administrative offices. It took only nine months and a cost of $122,177, the split level designed structure was financed by state capital construction funds.

The structure was designed by McLoney, Tune and Clark, Architects, Lexington, and was constructed by the Dawson Evans Construction Company, Louisville.

The main level houses the suites of offices for the President, Dean of the College, Vice President for Academic Affairs and the newly installed computing and machine record center.

The Lower Level

Located on the lower level are the Dean of Students, Associate Dean of Students, School Relations, Alumni Relations, Public Relations, Service office, vending area and mechanical room.

The structure is designed to permit the addition of several levels as more administrative space is needed. The Social Studies — Education Building, which previously held administrative offices, has been vacated to provide additional faculty offices and classroom facilities.

The President's suite includes a conference room, three offices, a reception area, a secretarial area and a filing room.

Included in the Business Affairs suite are five offices, a large clerical and a service counter, a vault and storage area and a computing and machine record center.

The Rooming Office suite includes an office, reception area, clerical room and a large record storage room.

The Dean of Students and Associate Dean of Students

These two have a large secretarial area with additional offices for student personnel services.

Alumni Relations

Alumni Relations has two offices as well as a secretarial area.

School Relations

The two secretaries in the School Relations office have a large duplicating room with a large storage area and a photographic dark room.

A conference room

A conference room adjoins the School Relations and In-service offices. The two share a secretarial area and a large records room.

Board Of Regents Made Excellent Selection In Naming Of Carter Hall

With the multi-million dollar construction that is being conducted on the Morehead State College campus in connection with the college's Master Plan, which calls for completion of residence facilities for over 6,000 students by 1970, the Board of Regents is faced with the gargantuan task of naming these buildings for worthy individuals.

The Regents have done an excellent job in this area. The Trail Blazer feels that their recent decision to name the new 16-unit addition to the residence hall, Carter Hall, for Miss Anna Carter is an outstanding one. Miss Carter has served at Morehead since 1923, contributing to the college's growth and dedicating her life to the betterment of Morehead State College.

She started working at the college, then called the Morehead State Normal School, in 1923 as secretary to President Frank C. Button. Since then she has acted as secretary to all presidents until June 1, 1960, when she retired under the administration of Dr. Adron Doran, the college's seventh president.

After a month's inactivity, Dr. Doran asked her to serve as secretary to the Board of Regents and the Alumni Office. She accepted and has been working there since that time.

Besides being one of the most unique secretaries in America, Miss Carter holds the distinction of having one of the longest-extended terms as a Notary Public in Kentucky. She was commissioned a Notary Public in 1915, and her commission has been continually renewed.

She was recently honored by Governor Bert Combs when he wrote her a letter commending her on her excellent service to Morehead State College. Governor Combs also named Miss Carter a Kentucky Colonel, saying "I am sure you will be a wonderful representative of the Blue Grass State."

President Doran said, "The naming of Carter Hall for Miss Carter was done because of her invaluable services to Morehead State College through the years. I only wish we could do more to show the appreciation that is due her for her outstanding contributions to the college."

The Trail Blazer wholeheartedly agrees.

Dedication Of St. Claire Medical Center Was Answer To Dream And Prayers Of All

"The dream and prayers were many years ago of the people of Morehead and Rowan County, who will be answered Sunday when the community dedicates its new St. Claire Medical Center," said W. E. Crutcher, publisher of the Morehead News, prior to the opening of the new hospital June 23.

Mr. Crutcher could well have added that the prayers of Morehead State College students who also bring answered with the dedication of the new building, as students who have needed hospitalization at MSC for the last 40 years have had to be rushed to hospitals in Lexington, Cincinnati, Ashland and Huntington, W. Va. — trips ranging from 65 to 120 miles, long journeys when one is ill and in need of medical attention.

The hospital will be a great addition to Morehead, Rowan County and Morehead State College. Students who have been injured in our accidents will no longer have to be rushed to faraway hospitals and wives of students and faculty members will no longer have to leave college and their husbands for weeks to have their babies.

The hospital will also offer classes for special academic training of nurses and perhaps other hospital personnel at the hospital, thereby enlarging their academic program.

The advantages are unlimited! St. Claire has three floors, two delivery rooms, one operating room and facilities for 12 bassinets. However, the foundation was laid, and plans drawn, so that three additional stories can be added.

The Coordinating Committee for the hospital is composed of MSC President Adron Doran; Dr. C. Louise Caudill, who started the movement in the summer of 1960 to make the hospital a reality; Commonwealth Attorney Elijah M. Hogge; Newspaper Publisher W. E. Crutcher; and businessman J. M. Clayton. The Hospital Administrator and Chief of Staff are also members of the committee.

Dr. Doran said, "I doubt if any community in the nation the size of Morehead has proceeded as wisely, and successfully, in providing maximum health care for its citizens. And certainly the people of Rowan County dug deep to raise the necessary money."

The townspeople and the college faculty and administration all deserve a great deal of credit for the sacrifice and hard work that they have dedicated to making the dream of this hospital a reality.

As the Literary Arts Camp movies and the art exhibits held on campus.

We are not attending college for "book learnin'" only. We are trying to broaden our educational outlook and to obtain a correct philosophy of values. This cannot be achieved by attending two or three hours of classes a day, struggling only for the almighty grade and neglecting all other areas of our education.

The Trail Blazer is not saying that attendance at these functions will make a student a brilliant intellectual; however, exposure to the sun's burning rays, a prime factor for a "problem" skin, sunburn can actually worsen a case of acne!

Remember the difference between sunbathing and sunbaking. One beautifies the skin; the other cooks it. Many doctors now feel that excessive exposure to the sun's burning rays is a prime factor for a "problem" skin, sunburn can actually worsen a case of acne!

Nothing too often can actually make you feel hotter! The reason? Soaking in water stops perspiration — the body's chief cooling mechanism. And when you get out, many baths or showers tend to dry the skin. Don't bathe more than twice a day. When you bathe, shower, or soak feet or wrists, use water of moderate temperature. Don't drink the blood vessels that bring water near the skin to be cooled.

Don't bathe every few hours with a bit of Almond skin food as a comfortably antiseptic. If your skin tends to be dry, adopt an oil of the face and neck hairdo.

Wear a light perfume or a refreshing cologne. It will help you to feel fresh as a daisy and not like the last rose of summer.

Foundations of Beauty
To figure on summer elegance, you must start with the face. Frimose Yellow, Something Blue and a dainty, multicolored Confetti — all color-coded to this summer's high-fashion hues in outdoor wear.

According to Warner's, makers of the fashion fun slimmer, the idea has a highly practical function: colored undergarments keep their fresh appearance longer. But there's also a psychological bonus: "The colors make a girl feel more feminine," says a top fashion director. "To the ends to attract more feminine."

By the way, watch your own driving habits too.

President Kennedy Appeals For 'Genuine Peace' In World

Editor's Note: While not in summer school, News Editor Henderson mailed in his column from Washington, D. C. He attended graduation at American University and was impressed with the President's appeal for world peace. Therefore, he decided that he could find no topic more appropriate for our troubled times than this.

By DAVID HENDERSON
Trail Blazer News Editor

In the heat of the morning at Washington, D. C.'s American University, President Kennedy spoke before the 1963 graduating class.

"The President had just finished an inspection tour of the United States defenses surrounding this country and had flown all night from Hawaii to Washington in order that he might address the graduates and the nation."

With the view of the war defenses in his mind, Mr. Kennedy made a gravely serious appeal to his fellow countrymen. World peace was foremost in the President's thoughts.

"Not the peace of the grave or the security of the sword," he said, "but a peace that is genuine peace — the kind of peace that makes life on earth worth living — the kind that enables men and nations to grow and to build a better world for their children — not merely peace for Americans but peace for all men — not merely peace in our time but peace for all time."

Mr. Kennedy said that we must re-examine our attitude toward peace itself. "Too many of us think it impossible to make this world a better place. But that is a dangerous, defeatist belief... that mankind is doomed."

These are words to live by and to remember in the course of life. They were not meant for the leaders of the world alone but for every person to accept the immense responsibility of peace.

As a definite indication that he is sincere in a striving for peace, President Kennedy announced two important decisions.

"First: Chairman Khrushchev, Prime Minister Macmillan, and I have agreed that high-level talks between the United States and the Soviet Union will begin in Moscow looking forward to an early agreement on a comprehensive test-ban treaty. Our hopes must be tempered, however, as our states do not know when we will be the first to resume."

The President said that we are not helpless before the task that faces us. "We are not toward a strategy of annihilation but toward a strategy of peace."

And it is the opinion of the Trail Blazer that American college students are not soft, nor are they lacking in courage. When the time comes, they will get the job done. Another example of this can be seen here at Morehead. Miss Virginia Carter from Frenchburg.

Vaughn is a junior at MSC, majoring in English and history. Sunday, March 3, one day after her birthday, she was struck by a Ford black and white car. She had just left Frenchburg when she had an accident and broke both of her legs.

She then went to St. Joseph's Hospital in Lexington. There she remained for one and a half weeks while doctors operated on her right leg, grafting the bone together and inserting a pin to insure its strength.

She was out of school for three weeks, and no one at Morehead thought she would be back for the rest of the semester. However, she fooled them, and at the end of three weeks period, Vaughn returned to school. She is now a daily from Mignon Hall to the Classroom Building and attending classes.

A cast, a leather brace, iron braces, and crutches were required for her to get around. However, she summoned the courage to complete the semester, even with such a handicap.

Her only comment when she was allowed to give up the crutches and other protective devices, besides being extremely happy, was, "I'll Indian wrestle with anyone. Walking with these crutches has really driven me up my muscles."

Perhaps college students are "going soft" and losing their courage as plain old intestinal fortitude, but the Trail Blazer doesn't think so. Vaughn is a girl who has six "out-of-shape" students who weigh 50 miles in 14 hours and a young girl returning to school three weeks after having broken both legs and walking half mile miles classes daily and they are only a few examples among many.

Problems Manmade

"Our problems are manmade — therefore; they can be solved by Man. And man can be as big as he wants. No problem of human destiny is beyond the reach of human beings. Man's reason and spirit have often solved the seemingly unsolvable — and we believe that we can do it again."

To these thoughts, Mr. Kennedy brought the question of human rights. "When a man's ways please the Lord," the Scriptures tell us, "he maketh enemies to be at peace with him." These are words to live by and to remember in the course of life. They were not meant for the leaders of the world alone but for every person to accept the immense responsibility of peace.

National Economic Activity To Grow In Southern States

By WINFRED L. GOWIN

Director, Southern Regional Education Board

By 1976 there will be a quarter of a billion people living in the United States. Growth in population may pass the trillion dollar market, twice that we are currently producing, and the nation's labor market will number 80 million.

All of these facts are reflected in the profile of America in 1976 as seen by the National Planning Association's Center for Economic Projections.

They will be reflected in the image of the South in 1976. Of 34 states in the nation which the NPA predicts will carry on a larger share of the total national economic activity, seven are in the South: Florida, Georgia, Virginia, West Virginia, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Oklahoma.

Population in the South will reach 72 million — 18 million more than live in these states today. Per capita personal income in the South, now perched at the bottom of the ladder at $1,700, will grow to $2,700 in 1976, but it will still lag 20 percent behind the national average.

Florida's per capita income, which is now 80 percent of the national per capita income, will drop to 88 percent of the national figure by 1976. Georgia's per capita income will be 71 percent of the national figure in 1976 and is the nation's poorest state. North Carolina's per capita income, now 71 percent of the national average, will reach 77 percent by 1976, and West Virginia's per capita income will jump from 57 to 64 percent of the national average in 1976.

Noncommodity Sectors
Major employment growth in the South will come in the noncommodity sectors of the economy, which means those sectors demanding more education — professions, the service industries, government employment. Manufacturing will continue to grow at a smaller rate in the Southern economy than it does nationally. Florida is expected to account for about one-fifth of total economic activity in 12 Southern states. Seventy percent of total economic activity of the Southeastern states is concentrated in Texas.

Florida's rapid economic growth in the Southeast will be in Louisiana, while Mississippi and Arkansas will continue to grow most slowly, the NPA predicts. Maryland (a mid-state Virginia, Texas and Florida are likely to have the highest levels of per capita income in the region, but will be 5 to 15 percent below the national average.

By 1976, the South as a region will be producing $322 billion of output. All industries are expected to grow in the Southeast, but none will overtake mining which now accounts for 40 percent of the nation's total output.

National personal income, according to the NPA statistics, will double by 1976, reaching approximately $800 billion. Almost 90 percent of this income is expected to accrue in four subregions, including the Southeast.

The changing complexion of the Southern states has important implications for higher education in every kind. In order to provide the kind of education which will train manpower for available jobs, universities and colleges must match their programs with occupation trends and their vocational requirements.

New Home Management House Purchased By Morehead State

Morehead State College has purchased a 12-room house adjacent to the campus to be used as a home management house, President Adron Doran announced today.

The Board of Regents has approved the purchase of the two-story brick structure on the corner of College and Elizabeth streets from Mrs. John M. Palmer. Occupancy will be in September following complete redecoration and furnishing. The structure will be under the supervision of the home economics department with home economics majors living there for the semester as requirement in the home management course.

Dr. Doran said the Board of Regents has approved naming the structure the Palmer House, honoring the late John M. Palmer, who was an avid supporter of Morehead State College.

The structure has 12,100 square feet of floor space and is on a lot 87 feet by 142 feet.

The first floor has a large living room, a dining room, breakfast room, kitchen, sewing room, bath and sun porch. The second floor has four large bedrooms, a den and two full baths. The basement has a large storage area, servants quarters and bath.

Dr. Doran said the present home management house will be used as a guest house.

Delta Iota

Fraternity Chapter Approved At MSC

Kappa Pi, a national honor art fraternity, has approved a chapter at Morehead State College. Naomi Claypool, head of the art department at Morehead said the chapter would be named Delta Iota.

There are chapters of the Kappa Pi Fraternity in most of the leading universities in the United States, she said, "and this national organization was started in Kentucky at the University of Kentucky."

Mrs. Claypool stated that since many members of the new organization will be attending summer school the formal installation of the members would take place during the 1963 fall semester. Officers for the school year will also be elected at that time.

Minimum requirements for membership in the fraternity require that the student have at least 12 semester hours of art, a B average and have good character qualifications.

"Both boys and girls are eligible for membership in the fraternity," said Mrs. Claypool.

Charter members of the Delta Iota Chapter of Kappa Pi are: Barbara Hamlin, Isaac Iloresman, Wilma Rowland, Anita Blair, Patricia Skaggs, Glenna Amburgey, Jackie Burke, Elizabeth Bays, Bobby Newberry, Janet Little, Bill Frayle, Betty Phelps, Judith White, Zoella Cornett, and Richard Deitz.

All Morehead State College alumni who meet the minimum requirements are eligible to join the organization. For information contact Mrs. Naomi Claypool, Art Department, Morehead State College, Morehead, Kentucky.

President And Mrs. Doran Attend Annual NEA Convention

President and Mrs. Adron Doran are among over 200 educators from Kentucky who attended the annual convention of the National Education Association in Detroit, Michigan, last week.

During the course of the week delegates from thousands of affiliated professional units in every state in the United States heard major addresses by Edward R. Murrow, director of the U.S. Information Agency; by Francis Keppel, U.S. Commissioner of Education; and by Mrs. Hazel Breckinridge, NEA President.

Interpreted through the week were more than 200 different meetings of the entire group, of the official delegates, and of smaller groups with special interests. At six business sessions, the 6,000 official delegates set the policies and elected the officers under which the association will operate during the next year.

Robert F. Wyatt, executive secretary of the Indiana State Teachers Association, was installed as president of the NEA for 1963-64 on Friday, July 5.

The chairman of the Kentucky delegation was T. K. Stone, Elizabethtown, a member of the NEA Board of Directors. Just elected to membership on this important NEA governing body, as a second representative from Kentucky, is Mathew Murrell, Bellevue.

Other Kentuckians occupying positions of importance at the convention were: C. H. Sharp, Pikeville, chairman of the NEA Credentials Committee; Dr. Lyman V. Ginger, Lexington, treasurer of the NEA; and Miss Virginia Murrell, Bellevue, a member of the Resolutions Committee.

Breckinridge Enrollment At Record High

Breckinridge Training School has set a new enrollment high for the summer term session. Breckinridge Back announced this week.

Back said that 443 students have enrolled, an increase of 91 over the 1962 summer enrollment of 352. Of this number, 228 are in the elementary program and 118 in secondary.

"Increased enrollment at the school," said Back, "can be attributed to the large number of elementary students accompanying their parents to Morehead State College summer school. Also, the increased requirements for high school graduates in the state have motivated high school students to do additional summer work."

The 20-member Breckinridge faculty will be working with 31 student teachers from the college during the summer.

The summer session will run through August 2.

OVER 20,000 MILES—Ann Sandifer, a Robertson County senior at Morehead State College, traces the route which will take her over 20,000 miles as an international Family with Morehead to Israel. The exhibit shows many of the pins, plaques and ribbons she has received through 12 years of participation in 4-H.

Israel Trip Is Result Of 12 Years 4-H Work

Kentucky's representative to participate in the International Family Exchange this summer is a 4-H Club enthusiast who has worked her way up to the honor through 12 years of active work in the organization.

Ann Sandifer, a senior home economics major at Morehead State College, was selected by the National 4-H Club Foundation as an exchange student with Israel beginning June 19 for a six-month period.

She started her trip from Washington, D.C., where U. S. delegates to numerous countries participated in orientation and evaluation sessions. Following orientation she traveled to New York City and boarded the S. S. Jerusalem Special on June 21st which arrived in Israel July 5.

"It is a tremendous challenge I have wanted to undertake for a long time," said Sandifer, "because it is an opportunity to learn another way of life by living it."

During her 12 years as a 4-H member, she has won many pins, plaques and ribbons in public speaking, home improvement, junior leadership, clothing, food and other projects. She attended the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago last year.

Started in Fourth Grade Her 4-H career began as a fourth-grader at Deming in Mt. Olivet where she was salutatorian of her graduating class. Her mother, Lucile, is librarian at Deming and her father, Herbert, is a Robertson County farmer.

During the six-month exchange period she will travel more than 20,000 miles here and abroad sharing the work and social life of her host.

After observing the customs, life and culture from her travel, she will give more than 100 talks to American audiences and take part in approximately 20 radio and television appearances.

Preparation for the trip has been difficult at times for the 21-year-old ambassador who has just completed a term at Morehead State College. "Arranging for numerous vaccinations, legal forms and a compact wardrobe has been easy enough though," she said, "as compared to my effort to learn the Hebrew language."

Sandifer will return to Israel in mid-November after stopovers in Italy and Austria. She will re-commence on Saturday, July 20, at Morehead State College where she will graduate next year.

More than 2,000 prospective volunteers will enter training during the last five months of 1963 to supplement the 5,000 now in the field and the 3,000 in training during the summer.

Students can obtain the location of the nearest test site by calling the local CSC. Only requirements for admission is that the applicant has already submitted a Peace Corps Questionnaire or brought a completed application with him.

The test, which can't be "passed" or "failed" in the traditional sense, includes one-half-hour sections on general aptitude and motivation, language aptitude. Students who have had any prior training in Spanish or French take an additional one-hour test of proficiency in the appropriate one.

Record Enrollment Anticipated For 1963-64 School Year

A record enrollment of over 3,000 students is expected at Morehead State College this fall. Registration of part-time students for night and Saturday classes is scheduled for September 2 and freshmen reporting at Burton Auditorium on September 9 for orientation.

Two days have been set aside for freshmen registration on September 9 and 10. Upperclass students will register September 13 and classes for all students begin on September 16. This is the last day to register for a full load.

The final day to register for credit has been set for Monday, September 23.

Persons interested in attending the camp should contact Dr. Duncan prior to July 15.

Art Workshop Now Underway At Morehead

The annual Morehead State College Art Education Workshop will run through July 19.

Shelby Crowe, Art Consultant for the Cincinnati Schools, is guest lecturer for the workshop which began on July 1.

He received his M. A. degree from Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, and has taught similar workshops at Miami University.

Participation consists of lectures and instruction in art activities, old and new, with an emphasis on necessary information about prevailing trends in the philosophy of presenting and developing art activities in the classroom.

Directed by Naomi Claypool, head of the Morehead State College Art Department, the workshop is designed to satisfy the art problems of elementary and high school teachers and meals served in the Doran Student House.

The workshop offers 3 hours graduate or undergraduate credit. All sessions are scheduled for the afternoons.
